I. COMPRENSIÓN DE UN TEXTO:

OBESITY IN TODAY´S WORLD

Recent studies have shown that about six out of ten people in the western world are either overweight or obese.

Furthermore, the prevalence of obesity almost doubled from about 15 per cent in 1980 to 27 percent in 1999. The current statistics predict future problems. Obesity will now lead to a higher number of deaths from diabetes, heart disease, stroke and other types of cancer, and increases prevalence of osteoarthritis.

Most schools have vending machines including foods which are nutrient-poor and calorie rich

People tend to cook less for themselves these days. Almost half the meals are consumed outside the home and many of those are from fast foods. We have become year by year, an increasing sedentary society.

People used to enjoy walking a half mile but now they use the car to go everywhere. Instead of playing football or other sports, children sit in front of the t.v.or computer. These are unhealthy habits.
