Gender Equality for Economic Recovery

In the current context of consolidation of growth and economic recovery after one of the most severe recessions in recent decades, gender equality is presented not only as the cornerstone of any democratic society but also as a prerequisite for growth and economic development. It is essential at this time, to ensure that social cohesion, equal opportunities and gender equality are present in the budget policy responses applied by the public authorities.

The Andalusian Administration has been implementing Gender Responsive Budgeting for more than a decade, in order to contribute to a more equitable distribution of budgetary resources and the correction of inequalities between women and men, thereby increasing the efficiency and effectiveness in the use of public resources.

Following with the series of International Conferences on Economy and Gender Budgeting started in 2006, the Andalusian Ministry of Finance and Public Administration announces a new international day of reflection. The objective of the Conference is to place gender equality at the core of debate in economic and budgetary policy, analyzing the variety of interrelated aspects that reinforce the relation between economic growth and gender equality and that are reflected in Gender Budgeting principles.
